The Traveling School seeks to enrich the lives of teenage girls with an enduring educational experience focusing on overseas exploration, academic challenges, expanded outdoor skills, and a deeper comprehension of the world.

The Traveling School is a semester-long program for teenage girls ages 15-18 who wish to enhance their traditional academic experience with an overseas adventure. This non-profit organization is dedicated to the values of building self-esteem, increasing tolerance, creating cultural awareness, and encouraging academic exploration. Students earn full academic credit for seven semester courses in math, history, science, language arts, foreign language, PE, and Global Studies.

We adjust the curriculum to take full advantage of the environment and the culture overseas. The Traveling School will work with students and their regular schools to ensure full academic credit towards graduation. We offer the following questions to help us choose among many qualified applicants. If you feel another format is more suitable, please adjust accordingly. We need and appreciate your assistance. All information provided is strictly confidential.
